

instaradio

instaradio (www.instaradio.com) is offering a Public Relations Internship to a select number of dedicated and motivated candidates to work alongside our Toronto Team. Interns will be closely involved with our company's continued growth, and will work with us as valued members of the team. This position will offer a diverse wealth of experiences while working behind the exciting scenes of a startup company and is an opportunity to gain real-life experience in the startup world. If you are creative and have strong organizational and communication skills, please send us your CV and resume.

RESPONSIBILITIES:

- Contribute to and lead social media projects under guidance of mentors
- Monitor and post on blogs, forums, and social networks
- Respond to inquiries and interview requests from traditional media (TV, Radio, Print)
- Build new and strengthen existing relationships with users, relevant websites and blogs
- Provide creative and useful ideas for and feedback to Instaradio team

REQUIRED SKILLS:

- Experience in Public Relations, Marketing and New Media (including social media)
- Knowledgeable and proficient user of social media (Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, YouTube, etc.)
- High-level self-motivator who can work independently and as part of an international team

BENEFITS:

Although this is an internship, you'll gain...

- Experience in the startup tech industry, where your role is genuinely valued
- Future career opportunities with instaradio – sky is the limit
- A manageable schedule based on your availability with flexible hours and locations (can work nights, weekends, as well as regular business hours)
- Priceless relationships with the instaradio team and a letter of recommendation for your potential future employment
- An incredibly enjoyable and fun internship!

We work hard to ensure all of our interns have a memorable and valuable experience with us. If you have any questions, don't hesitate to contact us.

Looking forward to having you on our growing team,
Geneva Kliman, instaradio PR & Social Media
