Stephen LeDrew hosts Live at Noon and appears daily as a commentator on CP24. He engages viewers to watch, listen, think and be entertained. As an analyst, LeDrew provides no shortage of opinions on the matters Canadians care about. Be it on politics, entertainment, sports, or social trends, LeDrew provides thought-provoking insight. LeDrew questions the ability and direction of government and its capacity to do things. He asks the tough questions about Canada's future as a modern society. He asks the questions viewers often say they would ask if they were doing the asking. A former government advisor and elected national party president, LeDrew brings his experience to the issues at City Hall, Queen's Park and Parliament Hill, in the streets and in the courts.
