POL 207Y: POLITICS IN EUROPE

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO
DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE

Professor Randall Hansen

Classroom: AH 100
Class hours: Wednesdays 10am-12pm
Office hours: Tuesdays 1400-1530

Course Description

Europe offers a complex and fascinating subject of study. The Europe of the new millennium is made up of 27 countries, varied and competing economic and social models, and multiple institutional designs that have been imitated around the globe. The course provides an introduction to European politics, society, and the processes of European integration. It is organized into four broad sections. The first analyzes national institutions in the major regions of Europe: the UK, France and Germany, the Scandinavian countries, Poland and Southern Europe – and reflects on the ways in which these contrasting institutional configurations structure politics. The second examines in more detail the world’s most advanced international regime, the European Union (the EU), through which member states have harmonized policies, eliminated barriers to the movement of goods and people, and pooled or transferred sovereignty. The third considers Europe’s emergent foreign policy, its relationship(s) with the United States, and the effects of EU enlargement. The final section devotes attention to hotly debated issues in contemporary European politics: immigration, citizenship, and integration; denazification and democratization in Germany; and anti-Semitism and the legacy of Vichy in France.

Learning Objectives

The learning objectives of the course are the following ones: the students will develop the skills to critically understand politics in Europe, following both the institutional configuration of the ‘Big Three’ and the evolution of the EU. They will also develop an understanding of the theoretical explanations for integration and current political debates and issues regarding the EU. Finally, students will be able to critically engage the different normative and empirical discussions covered in the course.

Requirements

Students are required to complete four assignments in order to pass the course:

1. A 2000-word research essay: 20% [due November 13]
2. A mid-term test: 25% [in class, November 27]

3. A 2000-word research essay: 20% [March 12 2014]

4. Final in-class test on the last day of the course: 25% [April 2, 2014].

5. Participation: 10%

Sources: The essays should have at least 15 sources, at least 8 of which should be books. The bibliography is to be annotated: that is, a short summary [not more than three sentences describing the argument made in each of the books] of the argument of each book/article is to be included (not more than fifty words). Note that in annotating your bibliography it does not suffice to copy the abstract from an article; indeed, to do so constitutes plagiarism.

Extensions and penalties
Penalty for late papers: 5 percent for the first day, 2 percent per day thereafter. Extensions are exceptionally granted on medical or compassionate grounds when they are requested before the essay is due. No extensions will be granted after the due date. In medical cases, you must submit the original copy of a University of Toronto student medical certificate: http://www.healthservice.utoronto.ca/pdfs/medcert.htm. A medical certificate alone does not entitle you to an extension; rather, the instructor has to be satisfied that the illness was genuine and that it prevented the student from completing the assignment.

Submission
Normally, students will be required to submit their course essays to Turnitin.com for a review of textually similarity and detection of possible plagiarism. In doing so, students will allow their essays to be included as source documents in the Turnitin.com reference database, where they will be used solely for the purpose of detecting plagiarism. The terms that apply to the University’s use of Turnitin.com service are described on the Turnitin.com website.

Submitting your essay through Turnitin: before the due date students will be given a class ID and a password. You should generate your own account and use it to submit your work. Essays have to be submitted to turnitin.com before class. Submissions to turnitin.com after class count as late submissions.

ESSAYS MUST ALSO BE HANDED IN AT THE START OF CLASS; AN ESSAY HANDED IN AT AFTER ALL THE ESSAYS HAVE BEEN COLLECTED ON THE DUE DATE CONSTITUTES A LATE ESSAY

Double-sided initiative: This course is taking part in the University of Toronto’s double-sided initiative; you are encouraged to print your essays on both sides of the page.

Blackboard (Portal) and E-mail policy
All students should have an active University of Toronto email account. Important course information will be distributed electronically via Blackboard and students are strongly encouraged to regularly log in there. Students’ emails will be responded within 48-hours, excluding weekends.

Plagiarism
Plagiarism is a serious academic offence and will be dealt with accordingly. For further clarification and information, please see the University of Toronto’s policy on plagiarism at http://www.writing.utoronto.ca/advice/using-sources/how-not-to-plagiarize. Students are strongly advised to keep rough and draft work and hard copies of their research paper and assignments before handing in to the instructors or the department. These should be kept until the marked assignments or paper has been returned.

Accessibility Needs
The University of Toronto is committed to accessibility. If you require accommodations for a disability, or have any accessibility concerns about the course, the classroom or course materials, please contact Accessibility Services as soon as possible: disability.services@utoronto.ca or http://studentlife.utoronto.ca/accessibility.

Tutorials: Tutorials are an important part of this course and they represent 10% of the overall grade. They will take place at the following times:

- Tuesdays at 10am in AH 204
- Wednesdays at 12pm in AH 302
- Wednesdays at 1pm in AH 304
- Thursdays at 2pm in UC 326

*Tutorials will start the week of September 23rd. Please sign up for a tutorial on Blackboard."

Course schedule

Textbooks: Three texts are available for purchase from the bookstore:

- Desmond Dinan, Ever Closer Union: an introduction to the European Union (Lynne Rienner, 2005)

In addition, I would advise you to obtain the few readings that are not taken from the books soon. I have provided links in some cases, but cannot guarantee that they will be valid all year and, in any case, they may be down during the relevant weeks and/or exams. You are in all cases responsible for obtaining these readings.

In addition to these readings, it is recommended that students subscribe to the weekly magazine The Economist and read the sections on Europe. Among the dailies, the Financial Times (London) has the best English-language coverage of events in Europe, followed by the New York Times.
Schedule and Weekly Readings

Note on slides: Slides will not be posted on Blackboard. They are designed to aid you in note taking; they are not a substitute for it.
