Course hours: Tuesday, 16-18
Course Location: LA214
Office Location: SS3122
Office hours: by appointment

COURSE DESCRIPTION

The course explains why financial markets exist and how they have evolved by looking at the agents, actors, and institutions that generate demand for them. The consequences of increasingly integrated markets, and the possibility of systemic financial crises are considered as well as the implications and feasibility of regulation.

Core topics

1. Consequences of the Globalization of Capital Flows
2. (Ir)rationality of Financial Markets
3. Debt and Geopolitical Power
4. Global Imbalances and Macroeconomic Adjustment
5. Global Currency Status and Competition
6. Financial and Sovereign Debt Crisis

Course goals

1. Sharpen analytical skills
2. Understand the interplay of politics and economics

3. Understand major debates on finance and the international monetary system

Evaluation and Due Dates

GRADING SCHEME:

Test September 27, 2016 (15%)
Test, October 11, 2016 (25%)
Critical Analysis (15%)
Class Participation (20%)
Final Test November 29, 2016 (17.5%)
Debate December 6, 2016 (7.5%)

TESTS: There will be two multiple choice tests and one open book test. Further instructions about the format of the open book test will be provided later in the course. The late penalty for turning in the test is as follows: 5 percent for the first half hour and an additional 2 percent for every subsequent 15 minutes the test is late.

CRITICAL ANALYSIS: A written analysis and oral presentation of 1 week's readings (25% of grade). The written assignment must contain 3 questions based on the readings. The maximum length of the written presentation is 1 single spaced page in normal 12 pt. font and standard margins. The critical analysis should be sent to Professor Norrlof via e-mail, as an attached word document, no later than 10 am on the Monday (one day) in advance of the Tuesday that your oral presentation is due. There is a late penalty of 1 percent for the first hour and an additional ½ percent for every subsequent hour the analysis is late. The oral presentation will take place during the Tuesday meeting for which the readings are assigned. Students should present the 3 questions (included in the Critical Analysis) in class and be prepared to answer questions about the readings.

CLASS PARTICIPATION: Students should be prepared to discuss the week's readings. Participation accounts for 15% of your grade. To ensure student privacy and instructor property rights, recording of class sessions is not allowed.

DEBATE: On the last day of class, students will debate themes surveyed in the course (7.5%). Further instructions, guidelines and handouts will follow.

Students must check blackboard regularly for announcements and updates.
