Course description

This seminar endeavors to enhance participants' understanding of domestic politics of the states of the global South and how the internal political dynamics shape their foreign policy behavior and orientations through the latest thinking in International Politics, International Political Economy and Security Studies. In the first term, the course will look at the role of the Global South in international politics by analyzing the changing nature of North-South relations since their access to independence to the present. It will critically examine the context of these complex relations including, but not limited to, dependency and interdependence, the role of "emerging economies" and the extent to which they affect both North-South and South-South cooperation and relations, international trade and investment patterns, foreign aid, debt, global poverty alleviation strategies as well as the impact of globalization on the unity and bargaining power of the global South. It will also highlight specific regimes such as democracy and human rights, environmental treaties and protocols, infectious diseases, etc., around which these relations revolve.

In the second term, this offering will focus mainly on the issue of peace and security in the Third World by carefully examining the origins of numerous civil wars and their consequences, the role of the international community and regional powers in preventing, managing or exacerbating them, human security and peace-building in war torn societies and failed/failing states from broader theoretical and comparative perspectives.

Procedure

In the first term the weekly discussion will follow a brief presentation by the instructor of the issues raised in the readings and of the questions that the class should address. Each student will be responsible for weekly readings and active participation in the discussion.

In the second term, following two sessions of general overview, we will examine a series of Third World conflicts and civil wars. Students will be responsible for choosing a civil war and presenting their finding on this conflict to one of the sessions – the schedule of the presentations will be set up later.

Requirements and Evaluation Criteria:

1. Attendance /participation	15% throughout the term
2. Critical Book Review	20% (due date, June 15, 2016)
3. Essay1	25% (due date, July 20, 2016)
4. Major research paper	40% (due date, August 8, 2016)

*Late penalty of 4% per working day will apply to all late papers and unjustified delays.

1. Preparation, attendance and thoughtful participation are vital elements in the life of a seminar and consequently 15% of the final grade will be based on the contribution you make to the seminar. Each student will be required to make a presentation of 15 minutes to one of the seminars from the weekly-required readings in the first term. This provides an excellent opportunity to review the existing literature and every participant in the seminar is expected to read at least one article or chapter for every class in order to inject positive and meaningful insights in the discussion. During the second term, each student must present 20-30 minutes on his /her major research paper. If two or more students choose to work on the same topic (civil conflict), they will be scheduled together for the presentation. You need to purchase the book of reading from IMAGE-XPRESS and it includes almost all the required texts. The address is :

IMAGE X-PRESS, 193 College Street
Toronto ON M5T 1P9
Tel. (416) 5961708.
Email : imagexpress@gmail.com

2. Key electronic journal articles are posted on blackboard under course materials section or can be accessed online through your library account. Recommended readings are available at U of T libraries and they are very helpful for your research essays and a deeper understanding of the key issues discussed in the seminar. Some important books are placed on reserve in the short-loan section as well.
3. A critical review of ONE of the following books should be handed in at or before the class of June 15, 2016 (20%). The length of the paper is 8-10 pages, double spaced.

These books which can be purchased from U of T Bookstore include:

- i. K.J. Holsti, The State, War and the State of War (Cambridge University Press, 1996).
  - ii. William Easterly, The Tyranny of Experts: Economists, Dictators, and the Forgotten Rights of the Poor (Basic books, 2014)
  - iii. Paul Collier, The Bottom billion: Why the poorest countries are failing and what can be done about it (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2007)
4. An essay of not more than 12-13 pages, double spaced (about 2500 words maximum) must be handed in at or before the class of July 18, 2015 (25%). For this year, you will examine the rise of Southern states and economies and their implications for North South Relations and South -South cooperation and the international system:
- a. South-South Cooperation and Regional Development: The Case of Sub-Saharan Africa, or The Gulf States or Latin American States, or ASEAN
  - b. North -South Relations: Analysing the voice and the influence of the Global South in Global Climate Change Negotiations, from Rio 1992 to Paris 2015.
  - c. The International Dimension of the “Arab Spring”: The theory and praxis of human rights and democracy promotion by the international community
5. Lastly, a major research paper of approximately 20 pages (4500-5000 words) maximum on a civil war in the countries of the Global south must be handed in at or before the class of August 6, 2016. It will account for 40% of the total mark. Major civil wars or intra-state civil conflicts are listed at the end of this outline. Students are expected to choose one of these conflicts unless they want to come up with their own proposal that has to be approved.

Please note: Assignment grading will follow the University of Toronto’s grading regulations as outlined in the Arts and Science 2006/2007 course calendar (www.artsandscience.utoronto.ca/ofr/calendar). Assignments are due at the beginning of class. Extension may be granted for compassionate and medical reasons. But the request for an extension cannot be made in 48 hours before the due date. A penalty of 4% per working day will be applied to all late assignments up until a maximum of ten late days, after which late papers will not be accepted except under exceptional circumstances. Assignments will also not be accepted via email. Late assignments should be delivered to the receptionist’s office (Room 3018, Sidney Smith Hall) to be date stamped. Students are strongly advised to keep draft work and hard copies of their essays. These should be kept until the marked assignments have been returned. Any medical-based assignment extension requests or make-up term test requests will require an official Student Medical Certificate and will require advance notice (www.utoronto.ca/health/forms/medcert.pdf).

Plagiarism

Plagiarism is a most serious academic offense and the offender will be punished. In the academy where the currency of the realm is ideas, to cite someone else's words or thinking without due attribution is theft. It is not sufficient merely to list your sources in the bibliography or to use only footnotes. You must ensure that you identify and attribute all of your sources in text, whether you are quoting them directly or paraphrasing them – and every time you cite someone verbatim, you MUST indicate this by the use of quotation marks.

According to the University's Code of Behaviour on Academic Matters, it shall be an offence for a student knowingly:

- a) to forge or in any way alter or falsify any document or evidence required for admission to the University, or to utter, circulate or make use of any such forged, altered or falsified document, whether the record be in print or electronic form;
- b) to use or possess an unauthorized aid or aids or obtain unauthorized assistance in any academic examination or term test or in connection with any other form of academic work;
- c) to personate another person, or to have another person personate, at any academic examination or term test or in connection with any other form of academic work;
- d) to represent as one's own any idea or expression of an idea or work of another in any academic examination or term test or in connection with any other form of academic work;
- e) to submit, without the knowledge and approval of the instructor to whom it is submitted, any academic work for which credit has previously been obtained or is being sought in another course or program of study in the University or elsewhere;
- f) To submit for credit any academic work containing a purported statement of fact or reference to a source which has been concocted.

For further information on plagiarism and how to avoid it, please refer to the University's policy at www.utoronto.ca/writing/plagsep.html. Students are strongly encouraged to explore the numerous resources available at the "Writing at the University of Toronto" website at www.utoronto.ca/writing

Turnitin

Normally, students will be required to submit their course essays to Turnitin.com for a review of textual similarity and detection of possible plagiarism. In doing so, students will allow their essays to be included as source documents in the Turnitin.com reference database, where they will be used solely for the purpose of detecting plagiarism. The terms that apply to the University's use of the Turnitin.com service are described on the Turnitin.com website.

Students who object to using turnitin may use the following alternative procedure: inform the instructor, in the first two weeks, that they will not be using turnitin and discuss alternative arrangements including submitting a disc with all saved drafts of their paper and handing in all notes, outlines, bibliographic research, etc.

More helpful information

1. All undergraduate students taking summer courses in the Faculty of Arts and Science are eligible to use any of the five college writing centres that remain open in the summer: Innis College, New College, University College, Victoria College and Woodsworth College Writing Centres. Students may book up to TWO appointments per week. For information about writing centre appointments in the summer session, they may visit <http://writing.utoronto.ca/news>. To learn more about how writing centres work, they may visit <http://www.writing.utoronto.ca/writing-centres/learning>.

SECOND TERM

Second Term: Internal and Regional Conflicts in the Third World

The purpose of this term's work will be to examine a number of Third World civil wars, their origins, the impact of foreign intervention on them, the efforts made by the parties and third parties to resolve them, and the process of peacebuilding that occurs after a settlement has been reached. During the first two sessions, we shall examine some of the literature on conflicts and their resolution. In following sessions, we shall examine individual conflicts as presented by participants in the seminar.
