Course Description: This course examines key themes and issues in global politics including interstate war, state formation, nationalism, nuclear weapons, and the evolution of the global order. The course will be entirely online.

Lectures: All lectures will be posted on Mondays and Wednesdays on Quercus.

Readings: All the required readings will be posted on Quercus. No other materials are necessary for the course. Completing the readings ahead of time will be key for understanding the lectures, writing the final exam, and participating in the tutorials.

Tutorial Instructors: The TA assigned to your tutorial is your first point of contact for any questions regarding course logistics, assignments, missing work, requests for re-grade, general concerns, and any other administrative matters. The head TA, Dafe Oputu – dafe.oputu@mail.utoronto.ca – will also be available to help with these questions if necessary.

Course Requirements: You will be evaluated on the basis of an IR meme assignment, a 3-page essay, your participation in tutorials, and a final (take-home) exam. The breakdown of the course grade is as follows:

- IR Meme (due by May 25): 10%
- Short Essay (due June 9): 25%
- Tutorials: 15%
- Final Exam: 50%

Short Essay: A 4-page double-spaced essay on a prompt that will be provided to you later in the semester. It is due by midnight, June 9 (double-spaced, size 12 font, 1 inch margins).

Final Exam: The exam will be online, in a short-essay online format. You will have 48 hours to write and return the essays once you receive the essay questions, and you can have access to all notes and course materials during the exam. More information about the final exam will be provided later in the semester.

IR Meme: make a meme based on any of the course materials (readings/lectures). This should be submitted to your TA by May 25, and it will be graded on a simple pass/fail basis (10 points if you turn one in, 0 points if you do not.)
Tutorials: Tutorials will meet beginning after Session 2. There are no tutorials for Sessions 10-12. Your grade in tutorial is based on attendance (5%), participation (5%), and a 2-3-page reading response (5%, due at some point between Session 2 and Session 9 based on sign-up.)

Tutorial attendance: Your tutorial leader will discuss course themes and answer questions dealing with the readings and lectures. Tutorial attendance is therefore crucial to your success in this course. Each absence will decrease your attendance mark by 2.5%, so missing two or more tutorials will result in an attendance mark of zero. It will also negatively impact your participation mark (subject to the TA’s discretion) and your ability to successfully answer questions on the final exam. So don’t miss tutorials if you can help it!

Office Hours: You can sign up for my office hours via Calendly (I’ll share a link on Quercus.) Currently my office hours will be held Fridays 10-12, though that may be subject to change based on student availability.

Accessibility Concerns: The University of Toronto is committed to accessibility. If you require accommodations or have any accessibility concerns, please visit http://studentlife.utoronto.ca/accessibility.

Grade Appeals: If you are unhappy with a grade on an assignment, you may submit a written appeal to your TA, explaining why you feel your grade on an assignment is unjustified. You must submit this written appeal no later than two weeks after your assignment is returned. Regrades do not mean an automatic increase, as assignments must be evaluated anew. Your grade may stay the same, go up, or go down.

If you are still unhappy after your TA’s regrade, you may contact the Head TA to request an instructor regrade. These regrades will be granted only in cases where a regrade is deemed necessary by the Head TA or instructor, and may improve or lower your grade.

Course Outline

Session 1 — May 8. Introduction.

Session 3 — May 15. Realism and Liberalism.

Session 4 — May 17. The Rise of the State.

Session 5 — May 22. Political Culture and Nationalism.

Session 7 — May 29. The Nuclear Revolution.

Session 8 — May 31. Domestic Theories of Global Politics.

Session 9 — June 5. From the Global to the Local.

Session 10 — June 7. In Conversation: Topic TBA

Session 11 — June 12. In Conversation: Topic TBA

Readings

Session 2 — May 10. Global Politics and ‘Human Nature’

• Chris Hedges (2002) Selections from War is a Force that Gives Us Meaning, p.1-7 [7p]
• Jared Diamond (2008) “Vengeance is Ours”, The New Yorker, April 21, 2008 [9p]
• Margaret Mead (1940) “Warfare Is Only an Invention – Not a Biological Necessity.”
  In Conflict After the Cold War, Pearson Longman, p.176-180 [5p]

Session 3 — May 15. Realism and Liberalism

• play around with http://ncase.me/trust/

Session 4 — May 17. The Rise of the State

• Joshua Keating (2020) The Decline of the Nation-State, Slate, April 29

Session 5 — May 22. Political Culture and Nationalism

• David McRaney (2011) Excerpt from “The Illusion of Asymmetric Insight” [5p]
• Excerpt from Henry V by William Shakespeare, c.1599 [1p]
• Wilfred Owen (1917) “Dulce et Decorum Est” [2p]
• Sheri Berman and Mariya Snegovaya (2019) “Populism and the Decline of Social Democracy” Journal of Democracy 30(3)

Session 6 — May 24. The Evolution of the Global Order

• Tanisha Fazal and Paul Poast (2019) War is Not Over. Foreign Affairs Sep/Oct 2019

Session 7 — May 29. The Nuclear Revolution

Session 8 — May 31. Domestic Theories of Global Politics.

- Erich Maria Remarque (1929) All Quiet on the Western Front, p.220-27 [8p]
- Matthew White (2005) “Democracies Do Not Make War on One Another...or Do They?” [16p]

Session 9 — June 5. From the Global to the Local.

- Seva Gunitsky (2017) Selections from Aftershocks: Great Powers and Domestic Reforms in the Twentieth Century

Session 10 — June 7. In Conversation: Topic TBA

Session 11 — June 12. In Conversation: Topic TBA

Session 12 — June 14. New Challenges in Global Politics