CJS391H1-S / POL377H1-S

“Israel's Modern Tribes” - Course Syllabus, Spring 2022

Contact Information:
Dr. Oded David Oron
Email: odedo.oron@utoronto.ca
Office hours: by appointment* on Zoom

Course description
In June 2015, Israel’s President Reuven Rivlin gave a speech at the annual Herzliya Conference discussing the social and political schisms in modern Israeli society. Rivlin detailed the changes to Israel’s population makeup and how it could harbinge severe economic and social issues that will threaten the future of the Jewish state and bring about a “new Israeli order”. This course reviews and analyzes the characteristics, political, and social transformation experienced by each group and how it fits into the fabric of Israeli society. As a migrant-based nation fulfilling the vision of gathering of Jewish exiles Israel has always symbolized a diverse and multifaceted society filled with rich cultural influences and competing political agendas, both internally, and with regards to its non-Jewish minorities. Over the years winds of change and collective claims stirred the Israeli “melting pot” and created new realities that exposed early societal cleavages. Throughout the course students will gain a deep understanding of these core issues in modern Israel by reviewing texts, short clips, and participating in guided discussions that will analyze the socio-political cleavages as well as opportunities for integration and compromise between the “new tribes” that make up modern Israeli society.

By the end of this course students will be able to:
● Identify key characteristics relating to each sub-group in Israeli society.

● Explain the tension between the definition of Israel as a Jewish state and its democratic aspirations.

● Discuss the struggles over collective memory.

● Understand the implication of globalization on Israeli society and culture.

● Articulate the opportunities for social change based on demographic trends.
Assignments
Weekly participation in discussion: Students are expected to come to class every week having read and critically reflected on the required readings before class. This is not a lecture course; discussion is primarily student-generated and based on weekly reading. Your participation grade will be based on the quality and relevance to course questions of your weekly participation, the extent to which your class contributions move the discussion forward, and the quality of your facilitation as presentation leaders. The participation grade will reflect preparedness for class, attentiveness, and contributions to class discussion. The class is a seminar where the instructor’s primary role is to facilitate discussion rather than present information. I will work to ensure that everyone participates in the discussion on a regular basis.

Short analytical essays: You are asked to turn in 2 short essays (750-1000 words) about two of the weekly themes (double spaced) during the term. Your goal for each paper should be to critically address an interesting controversy or intellectual puzzle that arises in the assigned readings for the week the paper is due. The paper should not simply summarize the readings. You should pick a subject or question that can be covered in a short essay. Your essay can note how an author addresses some issue or a problem and explain some of the strengths or limitations of the approach that the author uses. You can also note important unanswered questions and make suggestions for improving the arguments or evidence in the readings. You can also tie together more than one reading, but you should not try to cover everything. Conclude your essay with a paragraph that asks a question related to the weekly topic. Explain why your question is an important one. Your paper is due on or before the class session where we discuss the topic. Please keep a backup copy of each written assignment. Two essays about a week of your choice should be submitted by February 15.

Final Essay: The term paper should be approximately 3,000 words long; quality matters more than quantity for your grade. Students are asked to focus on one of the weekly topics and offer analytical exploration. In this paper, you should demonstrate the knowledge and skills you have acquired in this course, focusing on ideas and concerns that are currently debated in Israel. Address the perspectives of different groups/institutions within Israel on this issue, and the interplay between state and society. For example: if a student chooses to focus on the ultra-orthodox in Israel, then the paper should zoom in on a particular challenge like military service for ultra-orthodox men and how their cultural and religious practices challenge the national draft. Provide the full bibliography at the end of your paper. The bibliography should have at least 4 academic articles and one book. Other sources could be added (for example: newspaper articles, online sources etc.) Any visuals / graphs / tables should be added in the appendix. The paper will be submitted not later than 4/8/2022.

Student presentations: For the concluding sessions, students will present a brief preview about the topic of their final paper. The presentation will include a brief background about the selected topic, why they selected the topic, how does the paper connect to the course’s theme, and present at least 2-3 sources that will be used for the analysis. The presentation should be about 5-7 minutes; students are expected to present questions, offer feedback, and suggestions to the presenter. Each paper topic must be cleared with the instructor in advance and no later than March 15. Students are encouraged to propose more than one topic and meet with me as necessary to receive guidance.
Course Grade Breakdown

Class participation - 20%

Two short essays- 40%

Class presentation of paper topic- 10%

Final paper - 30%

Plagiarism
Every year, students are caught for plagiarism. This is defined by the University of Toronto’s Code of Behavior on Academic Matters as “the wrongful appropriation and purloining, and publication as one’s own, of the ideas, or the expression of the ideas…of another.” On all work you complete for this course, all passages, ideas or information culled from other people or sources must be attributed to them.

All suspected cases of academic dishonesty will be investigated following procedures outlined in the Code of Behaviour on Academic Matters. If you have questions or concerns about what constitutes appropriate academic behaviour or appropriate research and citation methods, please reach out to the instructor or consult institutional resources like the University of Toronto website on Academic Integrity.

Normally, students will be required to submit their course essays to the University’s plagiarism detection tool for a review of textual similarity and detection of possible plagiarism. In doing so, students will allow their essays to be included as source documents in the tool’s reference database, where they will be used solely for the purpose of detecting plagiarism. The terms that apply to the University’s use of this tool are described on the Centre for Teaching Support & Innovation web site (https://uoft.me/pdt-faq).

Other
Accessibility Needs
Students with diverse learning styles and needs are welcome in this course. If you have a disability/health consideration that may require accommodations, please feel free to approach me and/or the AccessAbility Services as soon as possible.

Please call 416-978-8060 or email accessibility.services@utoronto.ca. The sooner you let them know your needs the quicker they can assist you in achieving your learning goals in this course. The University of Toronto is committed to accessibility, and I share that commitment by believing that every student should have an equal chance to excel in this course. I strive to create and maintain an inclusive environment and promise to provide reasonable and appropriate accommodations to persons who require them. More information is available here: https://studentlife.utoronto.ca/service/accessibility-services-registration-and-documentation-requirements/
Quercus
From time to time, class announcements & material will be delivered via e-mail and/or announcements through Quercus. It is the students’ responsibility to maintain their e-mail addresses in good working order and to ensure that the e-mail address known to the university (and listed on Quercus) is accurate. Failure to receive important class announcements & messages are NOT legitimate excuses for missing class work.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Topic</th>
<th>Notes</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Week 1 – January 11</td>
<td>Introduction - Meet the Tribes</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Week 2 – January 18</td>
<td>A Declaration of Whose Rights?</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Week 3- January 25</td>
<td>The Melting Pot Challenge and Concept of Mamlachtiyut (Republicanism)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Week 4- February 1</td>
<td>Israel of “Non-Whites”- From the Wadi Salib Protests to the Israeli Black</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Week 5 – February 8</td>
<td>Mizrahim the New Elites</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Week 6- February 15</td>
<td>Black Hatters - the Ultra-Orthodox Community in Israel</td>
<td>Last date to submit 2 essays</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Week 7- – Reading Week</td>
<td>no classes (Feb 21-Feb 25)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Week 8 - March 1</td>
<td>Who Are the Israeli Settlers?</td>
<td>Email me to approve your topic</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Week 9- March 8</td>
<td>Russians and Ethiopian Jews - Israelis of the 1990s</td>
<td>Email me to approve your topic</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Week 10- March 15</td>
<td>Minorities in Israel - Arabs, Druze and Bedouin Communities</td>
<td>Email me to approve your topic</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Week 11- March 22</td>
<td>Non-Jewish Immigration to Israel - a Story About Labor and Asylum</td>
<td>This class will likely be held online</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Week 12 – March 29</td>
<td>Student presentations</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Week 13- April 9</td>
<td>The Modern Tribes of Israel - Unpacking President Rivlin’s Speech</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Class schedule and reading assignments

Week 1: Introduction - Meet the Tribes

Week 2: A Declaration of Whose Rights?

Recommended

Week 3: The Melting Pot Challenge and Concept of Mamlachtiyut (Republicanism)

Recommended

Week 4: The Israel of “Non-Whites”- From the Wadi Salib Protests to the Israeli Black Panthers

Week 5: Mizrahim the New Elites
Averbukh, L. (2017). Israel on the road to the Orient? The cultural and political rise of the Mizrahim.

Week 6: Black Hatters - the Ultra-Orthodox Community in Israel

Recommended
Recommended

Week 7: Reading Week no classes (Feb 21-Feb 25)

Week 8 – Who Are Israeli Settlers?

Week 9: Russians and Ethiopian Jews - Israelis of the 1990s

Recommended

Week 10: Minorities in Israel - Arabs, Druze and Bedouin Communities

Recommended

Week 11: Non-Jewish Immigration to Israel - a Story About Labor and Asylum

Week 12: Student presentations
Student are encouraged to use visual aids and short clips to present their topics

Week 13: The Modern Tribes of Israel - Unpacking President Rivlin’s Speech
The Four Tribes Initiative

President Reuven Rivlin Address to the 15th Annual Herzliya Conference
“Israeli Hope: Towards a New Israeli Order”, 7 June 2015

Student Presentations continued and Concluding Discussion