Topics in Comparative Politics III: Epidemics and Phobia
POL379H1 F; LEC0301

Class time: Wednesday 12:00 - 2:00 p.m.
Instructor: Prof. Ato Kwamena Onoma
Office: 3079 Sydney Smith Hall
Email: ato.onoma@utoronto.ca

Class time: Wednesday 12-2pm

Class location: OI 5150

Office Hours: Wednesday 10-11am (or by appointment through email)

THEMES: This class will explore the relationship between epidemics and phobia with an emphasis on mapping, explaining and making sense of the forms that phobia takes during public health crises. We will also examine the extent to which epidemics constitute defining moments that inflect longstanding social dynamics. The following are some questions that we will explore: What is the relationship between health-related xenophobia and other forms of xenophobia? Do epidemics always coincide with xenophobia? Why are some groups scapegoated while others are not? Which members of scapegoated groups are targeted during epidemics? How do epidemics play into intra-group interactions? This course will help students to reflect on broader questions of mobility and inter and intra-communal relations while advancing their knowledge of the more specific issues of epidemics and phobia.

FORMAT AND REQUIREMENTS: This is a lecture with a significant discussion segment. This course will be in-person. The course will be divided into two sections with each building up to a discussion jamboree that will be followed by a major take-home assessment. Section 1 will provide students with a general grasp of the problem of xenophobia and help them grasp the dominant literature on xenophobia linked to public health crises. Focus on will be on the character, scope, forms, and motivations of such xenophobia as well as its links with non-epidemic era xenophobia. This section will culminate with the mid-term take-home open book exam. Section 2 will undertake a more critically interrogation of the dominant literature on the relationship between epidemics and xenophobia. It will detect its gaps and flaws and explore ways of further enrichening it.

PREREQUISITES: 1.0 POL credit
ASSESSMENT

- Class attendance (12%): Presence in class throughout the course of the semester will earn you 12% of the final grade.

- Class participation (24%): Informed and sustained participation informed by course readings during all classes, excluding discussion jamborees will earn you a further 24% of the final grade.

- Mid-term take home, open book exam (25%): You will have one week to submit your response (4 double-spaced pages each, Times New Roman, font 12: around 1400 words) to one out of three questions posed by the instructor. All papers should be submitted to the instructor at the beginning of class on October 26, 2022. This is a hard deadline. A 2% (of 30% of the total grade for this course) penalty will be assessed each day, including weekends on all unauthorized late submissions. Keep a copy of your exams until the corrected assignment is returned to you.

- Participation in discussion jamboree 1 (7%): Each student should compose and bring to class two questions touching on the content treated in Section 1 of the course. Write your name on the printed sheets with the questions. We will put all the questions in a box and students will randomly select and discuss questions throughout the class. Students will be graded based on the quality of their questions and the extent of their participation in discussions.

- Participation in discussion jamboree 2 (7%): Each student should compose and bring to class two questions touching on the content treated in Section 1 of the course. Write your name on the printed sheet with the questions. We will put all the questions in a box and students will randomly select and discuss questions throughout the class. Students will be graded based on the quality of their questions and the extent of their participation in discussions.

- Final take home, open book exam (25%): You will have two weeks to submit your response (4 double-spaced pages each, Times New Roman, font 12: around 1500 words) to one out of three questions posed by the instructor. You will receive the questions no later than November 22, 2022. All papers should be submitted to the instructor at his office between 9am and 3pm on December 12, 2022. This is a hard deadline. A 2% (of 34% of the total grade for this course) penalty will be assessed each day, including weekends on all unauthorized late submissions. Keep a copy of your exams until the corrected assignment is returned to you. Submit late responses to the instructor by email.
ABSENCE: Students who absent themselves from class should complete the Absence Declaration form available to them directly on ACORN. Students should also inform the instructor of their absence.

EXTENSIONS: The deadlines for submission of assignments are hard deadlines. Extensions will only be granted in extraordinary circumstances. To discuss an extension, come to office hours at least one week before the assignment is due. I do not discuss extensions by email. Any late submissions that have not been granted an extension by the instructor prior to the deadline will not be marked and will receive a grade of zero.
