Course Description
The twenty first century in Latin American Politics has been characterized by shifts from left to right governments, unexpected openings in entrenched regimes, endings to decades’ long conflicts, and beginnings of new ones. The region has also been characterized by renewed mobilizations against persistent inequalities and an increasing attention to the promises and challenges of development. Our approach in the course will address themes through pan-regional hopes and challenges in the pursuit of social justice, and case studies – offering students in-depth investigations into individual country cases. Key questions addressed include: understanding the meaning of left and right political formations in the twenty-first century; development, sustainable development, and the critique of development; and the relationship between states and social movements in Bolivia, Brazil, Venezuela, Chile, and Cuba in the aftermaths of the so-called Washington Consensus of the 1990s and early century ‘Left Turn.’

Course Learning Objectives
The specific learning objectives of this course will be:

1. To read, understand, and compare a number of interdisciplinary approaches to contemporary Latin American politics and national development;

2. To develop a critical appreciation of recent trends in Latin America, as well as their historical roots;

3. To introduce students to a range of contemporary social theory concepts and their global and local applications;

4. To improve and refine writing and research skills through the composition of a research essay and response papers;
Students are expected to have finished the day’s assigned readings before lecture, and are encouraged to bring questions and concerns to class. Lectures will compliment but not necessarily replicate assigned readings. Our aim is to develop not only a critical repertoire on the key debates surrounding Latin American Politics, but to also hone our own abilities as researchers, writers, and colleagues.

Assessment

Marks for this course will be determined via a combination of response papers, a midterm exam, and a final exam. Exams will be conducted via quercus.

Response Papers (1-2 pages, double spaced, 12-point font) critical engagements with one or more of the assigned readings from a specific class meeting, to be submitted to quercus no later than the start of lecture (ie., no later than 10:59 am) for the selected week. Response papers should only offer minimal summary but should instead discuss the implications, errors and oversights, or further applications of a given article’s arguments.

Please note that the Faculty of Arts and Sciences requires students receive marks a percentage of their marks prior to the drop date. As such, the first response paper must be handed in prior to our meeting on 5 February.

Responses papers can earn:

No Credit (0 points): Papers do not engage with an assigned reading (ie., no citations), are based on hearsay or unsubstantiated opinion, or are otherwise unsatisfactory (hard to read, logically flawed)

Half Credit (5 points): Papers engage with an assigned reading, but in a superficial fashion. These papers may engage with the general idea of a selected text, but fail to adequately cite ideas or lack direct discussion of concepts, historical events, or stakeholders.

Credit (10 points): Papers engage with, cite from, and discuss a selected week’s readings in a direct, clear, and compelling manner.

On your responses, please be sure to indicate which week’s readings you are addressing. Failure to do so will result in partial credit.
Please note, as there are nine opportunities to submit these response papers, no requests for extension will be granted.

Midterm Exam Based on the readings, lectures, and other materials from the first half of the course. The midterm will be made up of identification and short answer questions. A study guide will be circulated the week before the exam.

Final Exam Based on the readings, lectures, and other materials from the second half of the course. The final will be made up of identification and short answer questions. A study guide will be circulated the week before the exam.

Note on Attendance
While we will not be taking attendance in lectures, please note that important announcements and adjustments to the course schedule will be announced in class and might not be replicated in other venues.

Email Policy
For the purposes of this course, the primary use of email will be to share information such as announcements of events of note or news stories relevant to the course material and to schedule meetings for more individualized matters. Email is a poor medium for discussing or clarifying substantive questions that come up in lectures or reading. Face to face (even if on-screen) interactions are much better for this sort of work. Please ask substantive questions in class or during office hours.

I do my best to respond in a timely fashion (usually within 48 hours) to all student emails. Please do not expect an immediate response, especially on evenings and weekends. Please be sure than any questions you have are not already answered in the syllabus. I will neither respond to nor acknowledge questions that can be answered in the syllabus.

Current Events and Further Reading
Coverage of Latin American Political, Economic, and Social happenings in the US and Canada are often poor at best, and usually absent from the news cycle entirely. I encourage students to do their best to keep abreast of regional happenings by following local newspapers, language skills permitting, or by periodically checking in with the work of think tanks, development agencies and Non-Governmental Organizations, and scholarly associations. For example:

The Washington Office on Latin America is a policy lobbying organization focusing on issues of human rights, security and justice. http://www.wola.org

NACLA Report offers analysis of Latin American conditions from a critical perspective. http://www.nacla.org

Good analysis on regional trends in crime and public insecurity. http://www.insightcrime.org
Inter-American Dialogue (analysis of political and economic trends) http://thedialogue.org

The United States Institute of Peace (conflict resolution, includes database of peace accord documents) http://www.usip.org

Also offering excellent analysis of regional trends is the Canadian Foundation for the Americas, FOCAL. http://www.focal.ca

Among Latin American based research centers, for wide-ranging and timely scholarship see FLACSO (with sites in several LA countries) http://www.flacso.org

Course Schedule

Note: As this is a course on contemporary Latin American Politics, we will likely be interrupted by current events. Please feel invited to come to class ready to discuss pressing issues as they arise. We will adjust our schedules for lecture and discussion accordingly.

Unless otherwise noted all readings are accessible online via the U of T Library system https://onesearch.library.utoronto.ca/
