This course serves as an introduction to public policy, with a focus on wealthy democracies. We will begin by spending two Classes looking at the questions that motivate many studies of policy:

- Who controls the actions of democratic states? Whose preferences are enacted?
- Why do policies differ across time and space? Why do they change?

These questions cut to the heart of all democratic theories. They are also crucial to understanding your roles as a participant in a democratic society, whether as a voter, a policy-maker, a tax-payer, or a service user.

The focus of the course is on big-picture policy questions. Since this course is meant to avoid too much overlap in POL474, where you will look more carefully at the policy evaluation process, we will spend less time here on policy outputs and more time on policy inputs. In other words, we will try to understand how policies come to be and how they change. We will examine four clusters of policies that are important in every country:

1. Social policy, or “Who gets what and how much”?
2. Labour and public employment policies, or “How is work life shaped by the state?”
3. Criminal justice policies, or “Against whom does the state wield force”?
4. Immigration and citizenship policies, or “Who is a part of our society”?

When we are finished, you will be able to describe policy variation on these issues. This description will enable you to analyze theories of policy formation, critiquing their strengths and weaknesses, and making a critical judgement about their explanatory power. Finally, you will also be able to communicate your description and analysis with others, both orally and in writing.

2 Prerequisites

Please see the 2020-2021 Faculty of Arts and Sciences Calendar to see the list of prerequisites.

3 Logistics

- MW 10:00am-12:00pm. Online synchronous, with some days asynchronous.
- Michael’s Office hours: 10am on Thursdays.¹ Appointments by email are also available.
- Email policy: I will respond to all emails within two working days. If I have not gotten back to you by then, feel free to send a reminder. Do not email questions about an assignment fewer than three days before it is due.

4 Course Requirements

A note for students who have not taken a summer course before: the course workload is designed to mimic a course taught in the fall or spring semesters. Since this is a faster pace, you should anticipate about twice as much reading and writing per week.

Your final grade is based on participation, two short policy memoranda, and a long paper.

- Participation (20%): I expect you to come to class having read the assigned materials and prepared to discuss them. Attendance is mandatory.
  - Most class sessions will include both lecture and discussions. Your participation in the discussions is important to you and to your classmates. I expect most students to contribute on any given day, and all students to contribute multiple times over the course of the semester.
  - After each week of classes, please enter your participation self-report on Quercus. You will evaluate your own preparation (did you read?), attention (did you listen?), and contribution (did you offer insightful comments or questions?). I will show you how to do this at the end of class on the first day. I will spot-check self-reports, so be honest! This must be done by 9:00am each Class for the previous Class. If you forget, I will NOT make the test available again. I suggest you do it at noon after Wednesday’s class.

– Absences: If you expect to miss class, or if you miss class unexpectedly, it is essential that you communicate with me. If you notify me of your absence, I will make a note. You are still responsible for filling out the participation self-report honestly. That is, if you did not attend, answer “I did not attend or did not pay attention” and I will adjust your grade at the end of the semester to reflect the excused absence.

– I expect discussions to be civil and respectful. You will disagree with me, with the readings, and with each other quite frequently. That is good. It means we are all thinking hard about public policy, one of the most controversial topics we can study. When you participate in class, be careful to consider your tone, and to avoid racist, sexist, homophobic, or sectarian comments.

• Policy Memoranda (10% X 2): Twice over the course of the semester, you should write a 400 word (one side of one page, single-spaced) policy memo. This should examine a single policy in two countries, comparing and contrasting the policies of the two states. This exercise is descriptive, that is, your job is to tell me what the policy is in each country, not to analyze which is better. These memos are self-scheduled. You may turn the first one in during Class 5 or 7 (May 10 or May 12) and the second one during Class 9 or 11 (June 3 or June 9). The policy should come from the relevant issue area (social policy in Class 5, labour markets in Class 7, etc.). The first memo will be graded and returned by May 19.

• Long Paper (45%): This paper will be an in depth (2,500-3,500 words) examination of policies in an issue area of your choice. You will choose an area, describe the variation across at least three countries, and explain why the policies vary. A rough draft is due (on Quercus) at 10:00pm on June 7. The papers are due (on Quercus) June 14 by 5:30pm.

  – Feedback (15%): You will also be tasked with providing written feedback to two of your peers. We will do this using the peer review module on Quercus. Feedback is due on June 9. Note that this is a quick turnaround, so plan ahead.

4.1 Long Paper Details

The comparison should focus on the causes of the policies in question. You will examine three or four countries, describing the types of policies and how you might measure them in a broader selection of countries. You will not have space to describe every detail about each case, so you must make analytic choices about the most important aspects of the policy for determining the causes.

You should clearly describe the theoretical framework in which you are working and provide initial evidence for your theory. Some potential issues are listed below. Feel free to pick an issue not on this list, but clear the topic with me by email before Class 5.

• Minimum wages

2Here and elsewhere, unless otherwise specified, an assignment due on during Class X is due before class on that day.
After you have chosen your topic, you should submit a short (about one page single spaced) topic selection memo (due Class 6). In this memo, you should:

1. Identify a topic
2. Identify cases (these may be tentative)
3. Describe a measurement strategy, including possible sources of those measurements (i.e. your own categorizations, using the OECD’s measures, etc.)
4. Identify three scholarly works that are relevant to your topic and/or your cases.

Table 1 displays the criteria for the paper itself, while Table 2 display the criteria for the feedback. An A paper or feedback packet will have more than one aspect falling into the “Excellent” category and none in the “Poor” or “Fair.” A C+ item will display mostly “Fair” performance, while a failing item will be mostly “Poor.”

5 General rules for assignments

Submission All other assignments will be submitted directly through Quercus, but the rough draft of the paper and the feedback should be submitted through peer review function on Quercus. This will randomly give you access to two of your classmates’ rough drafts for your comments. The final draft should be submitted to Quercus.

3All written work should be turned in to Quercus in .doc/.docx/.pdf format. Do not use a format, such as .pages, that makes me do work to convert it if I am not on a Mac.

Citations, formatting, and style In all written work, you may use any standard format and any citation approach (in-text, footnotes, endnotes, etc.) that works for you. Just be consistent, and cite anything that is not common knowledge. Since you are professionals, I will pay close attention to issues of grammar, diction, and clarity.

6 Plagiarism and Academic Integrity

Plagiarism and other violations of academic integrity will not be tolerated. See the university policies\(^4\) for more details. The Writing Center\(^5\) can also assist you in avoiding plagiarism.

Plagiarism policies apply to all work, including memos and rough drafts.

7 Late Assignments and Appeals

Late assignments will receive deductions of 20% per day. Students are strongly advised to make rough drafts and hard copies before handing anything in and to keep those copies until after grades are posted on ROSI.

Grade appeals must be made in person\(^6\) within two weeks of receiving the grade. They must include a 100-200 word written statement of why the assignment deserves to be re-graded. The grade will change only in cases where the second grading is more than 10 points different from the first (i.e. a 60 will not be changed unless the second grading produces a score of 70+ or 50-). Grades can go up or down on the second grading.

8 Readings

Below, you will find a detailed listing of readings for each class session. Most classes will be based on two to four assigned articles or book chapters (typically about three hours worth of careful reading, though a bit longer in Classes 2 and 3). You should read carefully and be prepared to discuss both the theory and the evidence. Some of the evidence is going to rely on knowledge - of history, politics, statistics, or past work - that you do not have. That is to be expected. If you read the evidence and cannot understand exactly what it means, make sure to bring that up in class.

We will use the following books, available at various bookstores or online through the library:

Feel free to buy the cheapest editions available, though if you are only asked to read some chapters, you should check with me to make sure you are reading the right chapters. All other readings will be available through the library or posted to Quercus.

9 Course Outline

Class 1: Introductions, logistics, etc. May 3

Policy Causes

Class 2: Interests, institutions, and ideas: What causes variation in public policies? We discuss three sources of differing preferences and differing outcomes. May 5

- Peter A Hall. “Policy Paradigms, Social Learning, and the State: The Case of Economic Policymaking in Britain”. In: Comparative Politics 25.3 (1993), pp. 275–296

Class 3: Does public opinion shape the outcome of democratic politics? If so, whose preferences matter? Is it the rich? The media? Politicians? May 10

Class 4: Analyzing policy causes as social scientists. What strategies do political and social scientists use to provide evidence for their theories? How do we measure key concepts? May 12

Social Policy

Class 5: How much and to whom? May 17

- Daniel Béland and André Lecours. “The Politics of Territorial Solidarity”. In: Comparative Political Studies 38.6 (2005), pp. 676–703

Class 6: Why do some states “care” more than others? May 19

- Chapters 3-6 Alesina and Glaeser, Fighting Poverty in the US and Europe

Labour, Public Employment, and Bureaucracies

Class 7: How do states influence the labour market? May 26

Class 8: Who works? For whom? June 1

Criminal Justice

Class 9: Politics and Crime
June 3

- Nicola Lacey, David Soskice, and David Hope. “Understanding the determinants of penal policy: Crime, culture, and comparative political economy”. In: Annual Review of Criminology 1 (2018), pp. 219–234. ISSN: 25724568. DOI: 10.1146/annurev-criminol-032317-091942

Class 10: Inequalities
June 7 Draft due

Immigration and Citizenship Policy

Class 11: Who can come? Who can stay?
June 9 Feedback due

- Read the introduction and two or three chapters of Koopmans et al., Contested citizenship

Class 12: How do natives respond?
June 14 Final draft due

- Chapter 2 of Rafaela Dancygier. Immigration and Conflict in Europe. Cambridge and New York: Cambridge University Press, 2010
